- (g) support Beacon Foundation's long-term sustainability and reputation; and

2 Who can make a disclosure under this Policy?

The Policy applies to:

- (a) a current or former:
 - (i) employee or volunteer of Beacon Foundation;
 - (ii) officer of Beacon Foundation; or
 - (iii) contractor, or an employee of a contractor who has supplied goods or services to Beacon Foundation.
- (b) a spouse, relative or dependant of one of the people referred to at (a);
who makes or attempts to make a Protected Disclosure (whether anonymously or not).

3 Disclosures covered by this Policy

3.1 What is Reportable Conduct?

A Protected Disclosure is a report of Reportable Conduct under this Policy by an individual who has reasonable grounds to suspect any of the following conduct (or the deliberate concealment of such conduct) in relation to Beacon Foundation (including their employees or officers):

- (a) conduct which constitutes an improper state of affairs or circumstances in relation to Beacon Foundation;
- (b) fraud, negligence, default, breach of trust and breach of duties under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Corporations Act);

- (c) conduct which constitutes an offence against, or a contravention of:
 - (i) the Corporations Act or an instrument made under it, or other financial sector laws enforced by the Australian Securities Investments Commission (ASIC) or the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA); or
 - (ii) any other law of the Commonwealth that is punishable by imprisonment for a period of 12 months or more; or
- (d) conduct which represents a danger to the public or the financial system (even if the conduct does not involve a breach of a particular law).

Examples of Reportable Conduct include:

- (i) illegal conduct, such as theft, dealing in or use of illicit drugs, violence or threatened violence or criminal damage to property;
- (ii) fraud, money laundering or misappropriation of funds;
- (iii) offering or accepting a bribe;
- (iv) unethical or improper conduct which raises significant implications for Beacon Foundation. This may include:
 - (A) serious and/or systematic breaches of Beacon Foundation policies;
 - (B) bullying or harassment;
 - (C) misuse of sensitive or confidential information;
 - (D) unfair or unethical business behaviour or practices in dealing with a client, investor, or supplier;
- (v) conduct likely to damage Beacon Foundation's financial position or reputation;
- (vi) victimisation for making or proposing to make a disclosure under this Policy; and
- (vii) any behaviour that poses a serious risk to the health and safety of any person at the workplace, or to public health or safety, or the environment (even where this does not constitute a breach of any law).

3.2 What is not Reportable Conduct?

Reportable Conduct does not generally include a “personal work-related grievance”.

Personal work-related grievances are grievances relating to a person's current or former employment with Beacon Foundation which have, or tend to have, implications for that person but do not:

- (a) have significant implications for Beacon Foundation or a related entity; or
- (b) relate to any conduct, or alleged conduct, regarding Reportable Conduct.

Examples of personal work-related grievances include, but are not limited to:

- (c) an interpersonal conflict between the discloser and another employee or volunteer;

- (d) a decision relating to the engagement, transfer or promotion of the discloser;
- (e) a decision relating to the terms and conditions of engagement of the discloser;
and
- (f) a decision to suspend or terminate the engagement of the discloser, or otherwise to discipline the discloser.

Disclosures relating to these matters do not qualify for whistleblower protection under this Policy or Australian law.

A personal work-related grievance may still qualify for protection under this Policy if:

- (a) it includes information about Reportable Conduct, or forms part of a disclosure which also includes Reportable Conduct;
- (b) the disclosure is that you have suffered, or have been threatened with, a detriment for making a disclosure of Reportable Conduct; or
- (c) you have made the disclosure to a legal practitioner for the purposes of obtaining legal advice or legal representation about the operation of the whistleblower protections under the Corporations Act.

4 How to make a report

4.1 Eligible Recipients of disclosures under this Policy

You must make a disclosure directly to one of the Recipients referred to in this section to qualify for protection as a whistleblower under this Policy and under Australian law.

Beacon Foundation would like to identify and address wrongdoing as early as possible. You are therefore encouraged to disclose Reportable Conduct to one of the following Recipients:

- (a) A member of the Executive Team or Human Resources – contact details are set out below

Brent Walker Chief Financial Officer	Telephone:0437510974 Email: brent.walker@beaconfoundation.net
Alice Richards Human Resource Manager	Telephone: 0439303356 Email: alice.richards@beaconfoundation.net

- (b) A member of the Board.

However, if you do not wish to raise your concern via any of the above methods, you may still qualify for protection as a whistleblower under Australian law if you:

- make a disclosure of Reportable Conduct to ASIC or any other Recipient as identified in Annexure A;
- make a disclosure of information to an external legal practitioner for the purposes of obtaining legal advice or representation (even if the external legal practitioner concludes that a disclosure does not concern Reportable Conduct).

If you require additional information in relation to making a disclosure of Reportable Conduct, you may discuss the matter in confidence with Brent Walker, Chief Financial Officer.

In limited circumstances, a whistleblower may make a public interest disclosure or an emergency disclosure to a journalist or parliamentarian which qualifies for whistleblowing protection in accordance with Australian whistleblowing laws. Please see Appendix A for more details.

4.2 Information you should provide

When making a disclosure under this Policy, you should provide as much information as possible, including the details of the Reportable Conduct, people involved, dates, locations and any other evidence or material which may be relevant.

A person making a disclosure under this Policy must have reasonable grounds to believe that the information they are disclosing is true, however they will still qualify for protection under this Policy and under Australian law if the information they provide turns out to be incorrect.

4.3 Anonymous reports

Beacon Foundation encourages a person to provide their name when making a disclosure under this Policy, as it will assist Beacon Foundation to investigate and address their report.

However, if you do not want to reveal your identity, you may make an anonymous disclosure under this Policy, and may choose to remain anonymous over the course of any investigation and after the investigation is finalised.

There are various mechanisms available for protecting your anonymity when making a disclosure under this Policy, including using an anonymised email address or adopting a pseudonym for the purpose of your disclosure.

If you choose to make an anonymous disclosure under this Policy, any investigation will be conducted as best as possible in the circumstances. You may refuse to answer questions that you feel could reveal their identity at any time during the investigation or at any other time.

Disclosures which are made anonymously will still be protected under this Policy and under Australian law. However, Beacon Foundation may be unable to provide you with the same level of practical support and protection if you do not provide your name.

If you wish to remain anonymous in making a disclosure of Reportable Conduct, you should, where possible, maintain ongoing communication with Beacon Foundation so that Beacon Foundation can seek further information or clarification to assist in investigating and addressing your disclosure, and provide you with feedback and updates regarding the progress of any investigation and outcomes.

5 Handling and investigating a disclosure

All disclosures made under this Policy will be treated sensitively and seriously, and will be dealt with promptly, fairly and objectively.

Where you have elected to provide your name in making the disclosure, it will only be disclosed with your consent, or in exceptional circumstances where the disclosure is allowed or required by law. If you have any concerns regarding this issue, you should discuss them with the Recipient.

5.1 Initial assessment of the disclosure

Subject to the confidentiality requirements outlined in this Policy, all disclosures of Reportable Conduct made pursuant to this Policy must be referred to Brent Walker, Chief Financial Officer or, where there is a conflict of interest, another appropriate person.

The Chief Financial Officer will assess the information provided and determine:

- (a) whether the disclosure relates to Reportable Conduct and qualifies for protection under this Policy;
- (b) whether an investigation is necessary or appropriate, taking into account whether sufficient information exists to allow the disclosure to be investigated.

Beacon Foundation may not be able to undertake an investigation in some circumstances, including if it is not able to contact the whistleblower to obtain necessarily consent or information to enable an investigation to proceed in a timely manner.

All Protected Disclosures will ultimately be reported to Beacon Foundation Board, either as part of the Whistleblower Register, or as standalone agenda items in circumstances where the Chief Financial Officer determines this is warranted or necessary.

5.2 Investigating a disclosure

Where the Chief Financial Officer is satisfied that an investigation should be conducted, the Chief Financial Officer will determine the appropriate investigation process, including:

- (a) the nature and scope of the investigation;
- (b) who will conduct the investigation (including whether an external investigator should be engaged);
- (c) the nature of any technical, financial or legal advice that may be required; and
- (d) the timeframe for the investigation (having regard to the nature and scope of the Reportable Conduct, the complexity of the issues and any other relevant factors).

5.3 Communication with whistleblower

If you make a disclosure of Reportable Conduct under this Policy and are able to be contacted, Beacon Foundation will contact you to acknowledge receipt of your disclosure within 3 business days

In addition, where practicable, once the matter has been passed to the Chief Financial Officer, you will be contacted within 14 business days to discuss next steps, and, where practicable, during key stages in the process such as:

- when the investigation process has begun (or if no investigation is to be conducted, to advise you of this);
- when the investigation is in progress; and
- after the investigation has been finalised;

providing that this contact does not compromise your anonymity.

In some circumstances, Beacon Foundation may be required to refer an allegation of Reportable Conduct to the Police or other agency (eg ASIC). In such circumstances, Beacon Foundation may not be able to keep you informed on the progress of a Protected Disclosure.

5.4 Fair treatment

The Chief Financial Officer will ensure that any employee mentioned in a disclosure made under this Policy is not unfairly treated during the course of an investigation of Reportable Conduct.

Employees will have the opportunity to be informed of and respond to any report of Reportable Conduct made against them prior to any adverse finding being made.

5.5 Investigation findings

Beacon Foundation will apply principles of procedural fairness and natural justice to the conduct of any investigation conducted under this Policy

Once the investigation is completed, the Chief Financial Officer will determine the recommended course of action (if any) that Beacon Foundation should take in response to the findings. Such action may include a disciplinary process or another form of escalation of the report within or outside of Beacon Foundation.

The method of documenting and reporting the findings of any investigation will depend on the nature of the disclosure. If appropriate, and subject to any applicable confidentiality, privacy or legal constraints, the Chief Financial Officer will notify the whistleblower, and any employee mentioned in a disclosure, of the outcome of the investigation. However, there may be circumstances where it is not appropriate to provide details of the outcome to the whistleblower or person mentioned in the disclosure.

Beacon Foundation will ensure that, in accordance with this Policy, publication of an investigation's findings will not breach the whistleblower's confidentiality.

6 Protections available

In order to be eligible for the protections under this Policy, you must:

- (a) be a person to whom this Policy applies;

- disclosures to regulatory and other external bodies;

- (a) the information does not include the person’s identity; and
- (b) all reasonable steps have been taken by Beacon Foundation to reduce the risk that your identity will be revealed from the information provided.

It is unlawful for a person to identify a whistleblower, or disclose information that is likely to lead to the identification of a whistleblower, outside of the circumstances listed above.

Beacon Foundation will take all reasonable steps to reduce the risk that a person will be identified as a result of making a disclosure under this Policy and to ensure their identity remains confidential throughout the investigation process. Measures that Beacon Foundation may take to protect a whistleblower’s confidentiality include:

- (a) ensuring that disclosures will be handled and investigated by qualified staff;

- (b) redacting all personal information or reference to a whistleblower witnessing an event;
- (c) using gender neutral terms when referring to a whistleblower;
- (d) where possible, liaising with a whistleblower to identify any aspects of their disclosure that could inadvertently identify them;
- (e) securely storing documents (whether electronic or paper) relating to disclosures;
- (f) limiting access to information to those or investigating the disclosure;
- (g) restricting the number of people who may be made aware of a whistleblower's identity;
- (h) putting in place measures to prevent information about investigations of disclosures being sent to an email address or printer that can be accessed by other staff;
- (i) reminding those persons handling investigations of their confidentiality obligations.

The unauthorised disclosure of a whistleblower's identity be regarded as a disciplinary matter to be dealt with in accordance with Beacon Foundation's disciplinary procedures and may also, in some circumstances, be a criminal and civil offence under the Corporations Act.

Any concerns regarding breach of confidentiality should be raised with the Chief Financial Officer.

6.2 Protection from detriment

A person must not cause, or threaten to cause, detriment to a person because they have made, may make, proposes to make or could make, a disclosure that qualifies for protection under this Policy and Australian law.

Examples of detrimental conduct include dismissal, discrimination, harassment or intimidation, altering a person's position in employment to their prejudice, altering an employee's position or duties to their disadvantage, physical or psychological harm, damage to a person's property, reputation, business or financial position.

Actions that are not detrimental conduct include:

- administrative action that is reasonable for the purpose of protecting a discloser from detriment (eg moving a person who has made a disclosure from their immediate work area to another location where necessary to prevent detriment from occurring);
- managing a whistleblower's unsatisfactory work performance.

Beacon Foundation is committed to making sure that a person is treated fairly and does not suffer detriment for making an eligible disclosure under this Policy. Beacon Foundation may take the following measures to ensure that a person who has made a disclosure under this Policy is protected from detriment:

- (a) provide a whistleblower with support services including counselling or other professional services;

- (b) develop strategies to help a whistleblower minimise and manage stress, time or performance impacts, or other challenges resulting from the disclosure or investigation;
- (c) allow the whistleblower to perform duties to another location;
- (d) reassign or relocate the whistleblower to another role at the same or substantially the same level;
- (e) make modifications to the whistleblower's workplace or way they perform their duties;
- (f) develop processes for ensuring that management are aware of their responsibilities to maintain the confidentiality of disclosure, address the risks of isolation or harassment, manage conflicts, and ensure fairness when managing the performance of, or taking other management action relating to, a whistleblower;
- (g) develop procedures for how a whistleblower can make a complaint if they believe they have suffered detriment and the actions Beacon Foundation will take in response to such complaints;
- (h) intervene where detrimental conduct has already occurred, including investigating and taking disciplinary action, allowing the whistleblower to take extended leave, develop career development plan for the whistleblower that includes new training and career opportunities, or other compensation or remedies;

Beacon Foundation will investigate any reports of adverse action taken against a person who is eligible for protection under this Policy. If proven, those who have engaged in such behaviour may be subject to disciplinary proceedings and potential criminal and civil liability under the Corporations Act.

6.3 Whistleblower Protection Officer (WPO)

Where you have made a disclosure of Reportable Conduct which is eligible for protection under this Policy, Beacon Foundation may appoint a WPO support and help protect you if you request it or if Beacon Foundation deems it appropriate. Please contact Chief Financial Officer for more information regarding the appointment of a WPO.

6.4 Other remedies and protections

There are a number of other legal protections under Australian whistleblowing laws including compensation and civil, criminal and administrative liability protection. Please refer to Appendix A for more details.

6.5 Consequences of making a false report

Anyone who knowingly makes a false report of Reportable Conduct, or who otherwise fails to act honestly with reasonable belief in respect of the report may be subject to disciplinary action, including dismissal (in the case of employees) or professional conduct sanction (in the case of members).

The disciplinary action or sanction will depend on the severity, nature and circumstance of the false report.

- (b) submit a quarterly summary report to Board which whilst maintaining confidentiality, provides statistics of:

 - (iii) for each report, the time taken to investigate it;
 - (iv) the conclusion of each investigation (upholding or dismissing the report) and the nature of the action taken (such as disciplinary action).

Annexure A

WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTIONS UNDER AUSTRALIAN LAW

A whistleblower who discloses specified information to certain people or organizations is protected by Australian law.

It is important to note that a disclosure must be made directly to one of the above specified recipients in order to qualify for protection as a whistleblower under Australian law.

The law also protects certain disclosures made in “emergency” and “public interest” circumstances, which allows for the disclosure to be made to a journalist or parliamentarian. It is important that you understand the criteria for making a disclosure in these circumstances, which includes, among other things:

- that you have first made the disclosure to Beacon Foundation, ASIC, APRA or other prescribed body; and
- you have provided written notice to that entity that you now intend to make a public interest or emergency disclosure in relation to this issue. In the case of public interest disclosures, at least 90 days must have passed since your original disclosure.

You should seek independent legal advice before making a “public interest” or “emergency” disclosure.

Protections and remedies available under Australian law

In addition to the protections specified in this Policy, additional legislative protections may also be available to eligible whistleblowers, including but not limited to:

- compensation for loss, damage or injury suffered as a result of detrimental conduct arising from making a disclosure or where an entity failed to take reasonable cautions and exercise due diligence to prevent the detrimental conduct;

The law also states that if you make a protected disclosure:

 - administrative liability (eg, disciplinary action for making the disclosure); and
- no contractual or other remedy may be enforced or exercised against you based on the disclosure.

You are encouraged to seek independent legal advice in relation to these matters.
